A university is like a piece of music. It is made up of many diverse elements that are only single, unfulfilled notes by themselves, but form a complete composition when put together.

USL's campus is like the base line of a piece of music. It is the strong, solid foundation upon which the school's activities are based the way a chord structure is built upon the foundation of a base note.

A college is built of students just as a musical composition is built of chords. But music is built ON a foundation of base notes, just as USL is built on the foundation of a great campus.

MARTIN HALL

Students are the melody of the university. When someone listens to a song, it is the melody they listen to to decide whether they like the song or not just as people base their opinion of a university on its students.

All the elements of the college work together to strengthen and enrich the students just as the harmony and instruments combine to enrich the melody of a song.

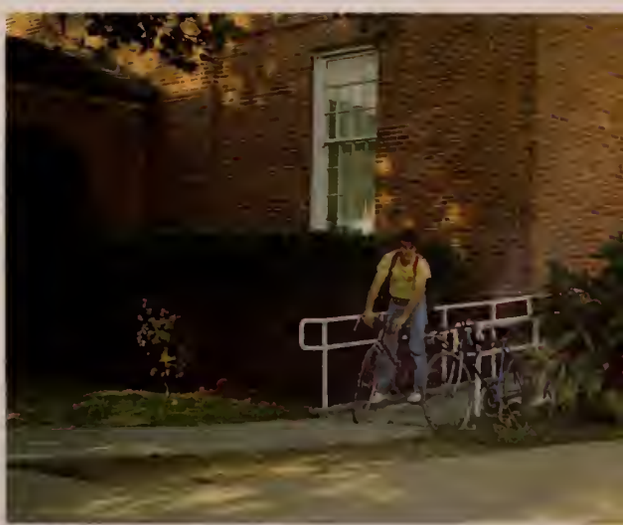

The activities that the students and faculty of a university engage in are like the harmony in a piece of music. The activities enrich the students and make them more rounded as human beings. They provide the spice to liven up the lives of people who could become dull and bored if all they did was study.

The harmony makes the melody something unique that is always alive and changing the way the active students of a university are.

The university's faculty is like the rhythm section in music. The rhythm section isn't what you first hear, nor is it the primary element you listen for, like the melody. But it gives the whole piece a tempo and order to follow so that everybody isn't playing at their own speed and all you have is noise instead of music.

The administration of a college is like a conductor directing the performance of a composition. He doesn't contribute to the actual music, but he pulls all the players and instruments together into one coherent piece of music that works. It is not a work of art until the conductor puts it all together.

The administration of a college pulls the faculty and students and activities and campus of the university together so that they all work together and not separately. This way everything runs well and things can be accomplished. Without the conductor, the instruments would make noise separately, not music together.

One of the best examples of a conductor who can pull many diverse elements together to work as a completed unit, is Dr. James R. Oliver. USL was lucky enough to have this man among its administration from 1954 through this past spring, when he retired to become the Vicar for Administration, Research and Finances for the Diocese of Lafayette. We will miss him and his inspiration very much.

Dr. Oliver is a man who can not only pull elements together into one cohesive unit, but can also make them feel proud of their part in big picture. He is always ready to brighten someone's day with a word or a smile, and always has time to help people with their little problems.

But little problems are not all Dr. Oliver deals with. He is extremely active in the community, especially where non-profit organizations are concerned. There are few, if any, underprivileged groups in this area who have not received benefits through or from him in one way or another.

Dr. Oliver's many memberships, titles and honors are too many to list here. But those at USL include: Associate Professor of Chemistry, 1954-59; Professor of Chemistry, 1959-69; Director of the Computing Center, 1960-70 and 1972; Dean of the Graduate School, 1961-73; Professor of Computer Science, 1969-81; Assistant State Superintendent of Education for Management, Research and Finance, 1972-73; Executive Director of the State Board of Education, 1973; Dean of Academic and Financial Planning, 1973; and Vice President for Administrative Affairs, 1973-81. He was appointed Commissioner on the Education Commission of the States. He taught General and Physical Chemistry, Nuclear and Radiochemistry, and undergraduate and graduate courses in Computer Theory and Computer Programming at USL. He initiated B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. curricula in Computer Science at USL. He serves as Public Address Announcer at USL's football and basketball games, and officiates at track meets, including the Southwestern Relays.

USL cannot help but suffer from the loss of such a man. But likewise, it cannot help but benefit from the years that he spent here. And we know that he is never far away if we need him, and his memory will help to inspire others to be the best that they can possibly be.

Thank you, Dr. Oliver, for the years you've spent with us. Your gifts to USL will never be forgotten, and we hope that your memories of us will always live as fresh and beautiful in your mind as our memories of you live in ours.

And with that thought in mind, we would like to present this gift to you: the dedication of the 1982 L'Acadien.

. . . And So A New Life Begins . . .

A seed is planted,

comfort of safety.

And so the young grow older and

to seek their own place

We must all walk
to a different beat.
For the sounds,

The University of Southwestern Louisiana is an experience in itself. The despair of missing a class because of some unfortunate mishap (rain, over sleeping or immobilazation of your car).

There is difficulty in trying to make the adjustment away from home where you were secure and sheltered from life. There is also difficulty in trying to find a Biology course when you scheduled Math. What building is my class in? Where is my class? Questions, questions and more questions seem to haunt the minds of many many students on any university campus.

But after you've settled down and have reached the point of "HELL I QUIT," then you find that you've discovered a walk-way that gleams brightly and leads to a pathway of hope.

Uncertain of where you're about to travel after you have fought the turmoils of this new world, you tap it lightly and jump back and then stumble and turn around and find that someone behind you or in front of you has stumbled also. That person is struggling to get up but finds it hard and enduring, so you reach out your hand and you help your new friend to stand up. And you attempt that challenge of this crazy, wonderful, mixed up world together. Together or alone you go out into the realities of the world to participate in your birth of your new life.

There is a beat, a sound that guides our lives and so you must follow the song that you hear singing in your own heart and I in mine. If our paths were meant to cross then we shall meet again.

"Three Times A Lady"

For those of you who missed the Commodores Sept 23, here is a news brief . . . they were fabulous and you should feel a large amount of loss.

The Commodores gave their audience their money's worth, which was little or nothing for USI students. The group appeared with a cloud of smoke, and sang "Brick House" and then went into "Soul On." Dressed in glittering baseball-inspired outfits, they electrified the audience, breaking into tune after tune, never giving their fans time to relax from screaming.

Above is Lionel Richie and his backup singer performing "Endless Love" (originally sung by Richie and Diana Ross), before a crowd in Blackham Coliseum. Estimated ticket sales were $6,100.

KENNEDY'S CHILDREN

By STUART STELLY

"The girl didn't walk right. I wanted her to be acid. I wanted her walk to convey acidity. She tried, but something wasn't right. So I said, "Walk as though you've got a nail in your shoe.' "

Such were the instructions of Dr. Ronald C. Kern, head of USL's theater program as he assisted an actress rehearsing for the production of "Kennedy's Children."

Kern, who has directed over 75 plays, recently spoke of some of the techniques and methods used for preparing a play as well as the crucial relationship between actor and director.

A play's preparation, among other things, requires time. For "Kennedy's Children," a particularly difficult and complex work, the cast was selected in May so that those chosen would have the entire summer to work on their character and do research on the period.

During the middle of the summer, performers were videotaped so that they could see what they were doing with their characters, voice and movement. Daily rehearsals then began a week before school opened.

Much rehearsal time is spent with the cast members working on expressing character and emotion by way of gesture and movement.

"I wanted to be a sex goddess." Lisa Frey plays the role of Carla in "Kennedy's Children," a Burke Hall production. Peter Imhoff, who plays the bartender, is in the background.

"Two Congs came out of the sea." Michael Lopez of Lafayette is Mark, the Vietnam veteran.

SPEAKER'S COMMITTEE Presents...

is a unique entity in the world of entertainment/communication. As much a confidant as a human potential coach, she is molding a career out of assisting those in the public limelight to maximize the value and potential of their innate talents. Lybrand has gained the respect of a variety of celebrities including authors, lawyers, politicians, public speakers and musical entertainers, as well as college students and corporate executives across the nation."

Her ability to say it like it is so simply and yet so totally in her own "Texas-Talkin' Way" makes her a joy to see and hear. Because of Jayne Lybrand's diverse ability to reach out to so many areas and professions, she has become one of the most in-demand speakers in American colleges, business and conventions today!

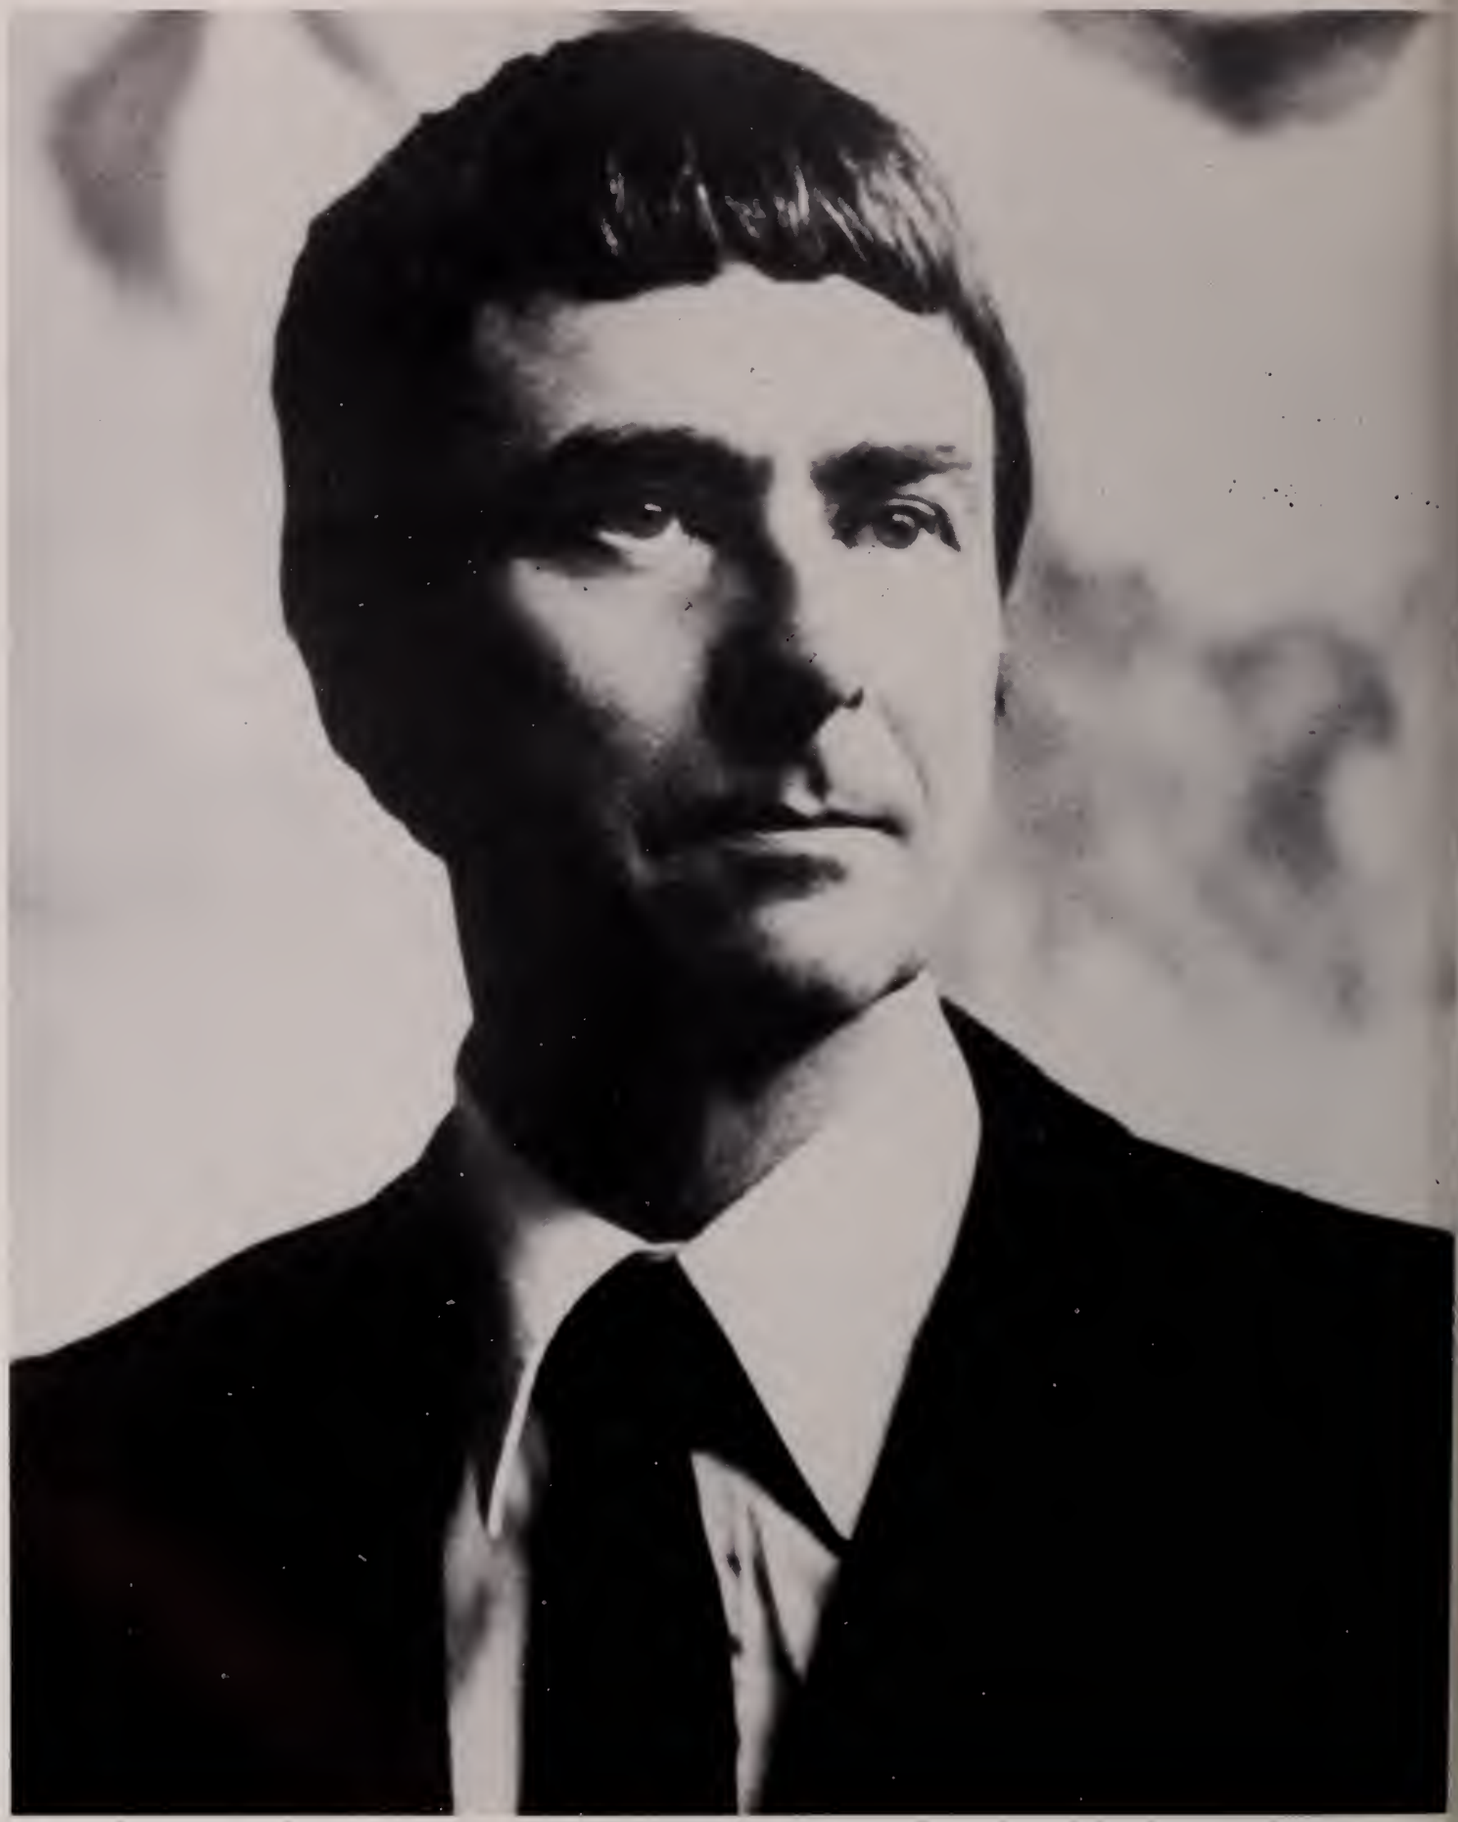

"Jayne Lybrand has the professionalism and speaking ability of Barbara Jordan, the wit and humor of Erma Bombeck and the information and refreshing quick-to-the-point solution of Dr. Joyce Brothers all wrapped up in a sensual package that's a cross between Phyllis George and a 'Texas-Talking Dolly Parton.' "

Her speech September 22, in USL Union was sponsored by the Fashion Committee, and admission was 50 cents for USL students with I.D. and $1 for the general Public.

The Texas native showed 12 ways to prepare for a job interview, 13 ways to appear devious and how to get over a broken heart. Her presentation also covered 28 ways to tell someone's lying, 22 ways to intimidate a person, 18 ways to look sincere and honest, and 10 ways to dress successfully.

Lybrand owns her own imagemaking company. She earned a bachelor's degree in speech communication and English from Texas Christian's University, a master's degree in speech communication and guidance from TCU, and currently is completing a Ph. D. in college administration at North Texas State University.

Dr. Gerard O'Neill, Princeton Physic Professor lectured on the "High Frontier: Space Colonies and Energy from Space.

Michael Iceberg

Dominating the USL Union Ballroom stage was a seven-foot tall copper pyramid, housing seven synthesizers, a drum computer and other mechanical devices. Seated at the keyboards of the massive music machine was Juilliard-trained Michael Iceberg.

Man and machine were featured in a 90-minute concert of rock, classical and original works.

Iceberg intersperses his concert with asides on the development of his machine from its inception as a slightly-out-of-the-ordinary organ.

Musician Magazine dubs his instrument the "most sensational musical machine of the century."

Comments Contemporary Keyboard Magazine, "producing such complex arrangements live sounds like it ought to require eight arms and legs. Iceberg is a virtuoso performer, and he is clearly having fun and communicating it to his audience."

Since 1976, Iceberg has performed at Walt Disney World's Tomorrowland Terrace. For a few weeks each year he also performs for college audiences.

The Russians are coming! The Russians are coming!

By TANYA SAPORITO

Actually, they have already arrived! A visiting Soviet scientist is here at USL conducting research in the College of Engineering.

Sergei Kolbikov is an assistant professor at the Moscow Petroleum Institute in the Soviet Union, and he will be studying under Dr. Belunt A. Ovunc in the civil engineering department for the next eight months.

Kolbikov obtained his education at the Moscow Petroleum Institute and received his "Candidate of Science" degree, which is equivalent to an American master of science degree, in 1979. His thesis was devoted to "math modeling processes for the development of oil and gas fields," as he put it, and the research he will be conducting here is designed to further his education in that area of engineering.

Ovunc, together with several professors from the petroleum engineering department, will lead Kolbikov in his research. Ovunc explained the type of research they would be doing with Kolbikov in the coming year, and how the civil and petroleum engineering departments will combine their efforts: "We are trying to develop an assimilation technique for gas recovery," he said. "First we collect data about underground gas reservoirs through geological surveying and then figure out how to exploit their reservoir economically." Ovunc clarified this by explaining that they find out where to place gas wells, how much gas to drill and various economical exploration techniques.

Kolbikov is the second Soviet scientist to conduct research at USL; last year Boris Kuzovlev, a professor at the Moscow Geophysical Institute, completed research on heavy drilling machinery through the department of petroleum engineering under the supervision of Dr. A. Hayatdavoudi, chairman of the department.

Both Kolbikov and Kuzovlev came to the United States through an independent, privately-funded organization called the International Research and Exchange Board (IREX). It was established in 1968 and operates to provide research exchange opportunities between the Socialist countries and the United States. Kolbikov offered some information on the present exchange through IREX: "There are presently 26 Soviet scientists studying in the U.S., and the same number of American scientists have been sponsored by the Soviet Union to conduct research in various Soviet institutes and universities," he said.

According to Kolbikov, each scientist has his choice of which American university he would like to complete his research at. IREX provides the candidates with a list of available universities and the professors under whom the scientists would work. Kolbikov said that he requested to be placed at either the University of California at Los Angeles or at USL, but the professor under whom he would have done his research at UCLA is on sabbatical for one year, so he came to USL. "I know of USL in Moscow because of its engineering department and its publicity through IREX, and also because Boris Kuzovlev studied here last year," he said.

Kolbikov hopes to complete his project in eight months. He is eager to begin his research and to become acquainted with USL and America, and also to learn as much as he can about Americans and American universities, he said. "I am very happy to be in the United States and to be studying at USL," he commented. He added that he likes Lafayette and feels as though his research will progress well in the coming year.

Festival Acadien Arrives

Festivals Acadiens is a collection of several different festivals, shows and even a conference that each September turn the whole city of Lafayette into one big acclamation of traditional and contemporary Cajun culture. According to Festivals Acadiens General Chairman William V. Jacob, the community spirit that goes into the creation of this annual festival is what gives it its special sparkle.

"One of the most successful aspects of Festival Acadiens is the fact that the whole Lafayette civic community, in all its rich diversity, comes together each year to put on a show that is big enough to be called the festival of festivals," Jacob says.

The Lafayette Jaycees join forces with the University of Southwestern Louisiana's Center for Louisiana Studies to produce the Festival de Musique Acadienne portion of Festivals Acadiens, probably the most comprehensive Cajun music festival anywhere. Scheduled Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 19-20, in Lafayette's Girard Park, this music festival is open to the public free of charge.

This year's music line-up included all-time Cajun classics Octa Clark, Dennis McGee and Dewey Balfa; Zydeco musicians Boi-Sec Ardoin and John Delafose; contemporary Cajun stars Mike Doucet and Zachary Richard, and many, many more.

The Lafayette Natural History Museum Association teams up with the city administration of Lafayette to organize the Louisiana Native Crafts Festival in connection with Festivals Acadiens. Traditional and modern-day crafts are well-represented on the museum's grounds. A selective screening process assures the visitor that this is one of the finest crafts festivals anywhere. The Louisiana State Museum's traveling Acadian textile exhibit was on display at the Lafayette Natural History Museum during this year's Festivals Acadiens.

The Bayou Food Festival, a taste treat of foods from all of Lafayette's ethnic cultures, was sponsored by the Lafayette Convention and Visitors Commission. Located in the Lafayette Municipal Auditorium from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sept 19-20, this food extravaganza was popular with both natives and visitors alike.

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) draws senior citizen craftspeople from all over Acadiana who display their hand-made wares at Girard Park, in the vicinity of the music festival.

The Acadian Village, one of Lafayette's foremost tourist attractions, is the scene of much activity during the Festivals Acadiens weekend as well. An old-fashioned county fair, the only one like it in Acadiana, will award blue ribbons to the best in the following categories: quilting, needlework, home canning, pies, cakes, and others. The Louisiana Folk Puppet Theater delighted children, and there were French plays and pirogue races as in previous years.

The Art Center for Southwestern Louisiana presents a full range of cultural activities during this special weekend, too. There was an exhibit of Japanese prints, while music, dance and drama performances took place at 2 p.m., 3 p.m. and 4 p.m. on both days.

The Deep South Writers Conference, sponsored by the University of Southwestern Louisiana English Department, draws literary artists from throughout the South during the two days preceding and the two days of Festivals Acadiens. This year's conference featured personal appearances by Ernest J. Gaines, the author of "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman;" noted poet and novelist Wendell Berry; and Joel Oppenheimer, whose play "The Great American Desert," was produced at 8 p.m. each evening of the conference.

The Lafayette Jaycees sponsor the Acadiana Fair and Trade Show which began on the Thursday prior to Festivals Acadiens and continued through Sunday. More than 100 indoor exhibits from just about every type of business group are displayed inside Lafayette's Blackham Coliseum, while food booths and carnival rides were available outside.

Despite the large scope of the Lafayette Festivals Acadiens, parking and traffic remain minor concerns, thanks to a free parking/shuttle bus system operated by the Lafayette Jaycees. Headquartered at USL's Cajun Field on Congress Street, the system dispatches regular buses to all components of the festival.

As with other popular festivals, a number of posters have been produced honoring Festivals Acadiens. Lafayette artists Robert Dafford and George Rodrigue have each designed a poster for this year's festival. Dafford's was produced for the Festival de Musique Acadienne, and Rodrique's for the festival as a whole. Also, an official commemorative silkscreen poster has been produced for the 1981 Festivals Acadiens.

LAGNIAPPE DAY offers a little something extra for those who work hard. The day of hanging loose and being with friends. Forgetting the hustle and bustle, the seriousness of work and the pursuit of a particular goal — relaxing and just being you.

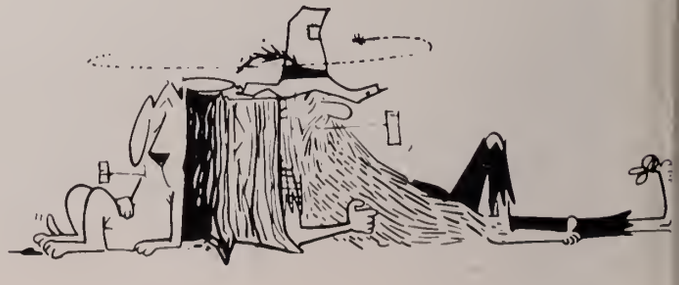

LAGNIAPPE DAY is held every Spring semester. It is like having your own private "MARDI GRAS" ("FAT TUESDAY"). School is officially cancelled that day and Lagniappe Day is always on a Wednesday. The only stipulation that this event has is that students are required to attend classes the day before and the day after. AW! AW! BOO! HISS!

Somehow that doesn't seem fair, but who are we to argue — we are only mere college students. The day is filled with face painting, games, that good ole Cajun music and zydeco and a very down-home feeling. The highlighted activity is the crawfish boil at Blackam Coliseum. "Hay-bear (Hebert), I tell you man it's finger lickin' good."

to this strange environment, always attempt the most drastic — like swallowing swords and the usual stuff like that.

So if you're ever in our neighborhood during the Spring semester, and you hear a lot of Hootin' and Hollerin', you'll know it's LAGNIAPPE DAY or the students have finally gone BANANAS!!!

Staples

A distinguished sociologist with an international reputation, Dr. Robert Staples at age 39 has written more about the American black family than has any other scholar. He has published seven books and more than 100 articles in professional and popular periodicals.

His important works include "Introduction to Black Sociology" (1976), "The Black Woman in America" (1973), "The Black Family: Essays and Studies" (1971), and "The World of Black Singles: Changing Patterns of Male-Female Relations," to be published late in 1982.

"Dr. Staples is a prominent instructor, widely known and published, who has built his reputation at a different institution," said Dr. William MacNair, associate professor of sociology. "His tenure here will be beneficial to students for just those reasons. In addition, as a high-level university member and outstanding sociologist he will give black students an image of an important member of their own race."

A native of Roanoke, Virginia, Dr. Staples was educated in California, receiving his B.A. from California State University — Northridge, and his M.A. from San Jose State University. He also holds the Ph.D. from the University of Minnesota.

Dr. Staples has taught at the University of Maryland, College Park; Howard University; the University of California — Irvine; and at Bethune-Cookman College, Daytona Beach, Florida.

He has held visiting professorships at the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Michigan, Florida State University, Tougaloo College, and Fisk University, and has lectured at over 300 colleges in the U.S., South America and Europe.

He has served as associate editor of the Journal of Marriage and the Family, Journal of Social and Behavioral Sciences, advisory and contributing editor for The Black Scholar, and editor of a special issue on black families in the Journal of Social and Behavioral Sciences.

He is the 1979 recipient of the Award for Outstanding Contributions in Black Family Research from Howard University.

Dr. Staples has served on committees for the National Council on Family Relations and the Sex Education and Information Council of the U.S., among other organizations. He is listed in seven biographical dictionaries.

USL was greatly honored to have such a distinguished professor visiting the campus during the Fall of 1981. All the students who were associated with him during his stay here had a really invaluable experience, and will always remember what he taught them.

The USL Opera Guild fall production of "West Side Story" opened at the Lafayette Municipal Auditorium Nov. 12-13, and marked the Guild's 21st season of opera and musical theater performances.

In this production of "West Side Story," directed by G. A. Beaman Griffin, several USL students made their debuts with the guild, as did several area performers.

In the roles of the ill-fated lovers, Miss Claire Dugas as Maria, and David Delahoussaye as Tony sang with the Opera Guild for the first time. Miss Dugas is a voice major at USL, and Mr. Delahoussaye works in Lafayette. Both are from New Iberia.

The role of Anita was played by Mrs. Claire Shelby of Lafayette. Clay David of New Iberia played the role of Bernardo, her boyfriend and leader of the Sharks gang. Both appeared in major roles for the first time with the Opera Guild. The role of Riff, leader of the Jets, was played by Bob Pastor of Lafayette, also a newcomer to the guild.

Other members of the cast playing the roles of the Jets were: Scott Rubin of Lafayette as Action, Samuel Irwin of Lafayette as Arab, Michael Reed McGowen of New Iberia as Baby John, Anthony Domingue of Lafayette as Geetar, Robert Sonnier Jr. of Abbeville as Big Deal, Mike Lain of Lafayette as Diesel, Danny Palmintier of Lafayette as Snowboy and Glenn Usher of Lafayette as Tigar. Other Jets include Terry Gautreaux and Wil Chapman, both of Lafayette.

Members of the Sharks were: Oscar Amieiro of San Juan, Puerto Rico as Chino, Ricardo Emilio Weir, also of Puerto Rico, as Indio, Gerald Alsondor of Lafayette as Pepe, James Smith of Lafayette as Anxious, Harren Washington of Lafayette as Nibbles, Eddie Stakes of Lafayette as Moose, and James McGee of Lafayette as Toro.

The Sharks' girls were: Toni Brown of Lafayette as Rosalia, Kathy Jones of New Iberia as Consuelo, Sherri Hager of Lafayette as Teresita, Lynn Maureen Dykes of Franklin as Francisca, Elise Pollock of Lafayette as Estella, Maureen Sonnier of Abbeville as Margarita, and Mary Rees of Lafayette as Carmensita. The Jets' girls were: Tracey Pears of Lafayette as Graziella, Roxanne Meek of Lafayette as Velma, Margaret LeBlanc of Lafayette as Minnie, Yvonne Olivier of Lafayette as Clarice, Alysia Daspit of Lafayette as Pauline, and Becky Anderson of Lafayette as Anybody's. Other girls were: Ethe Stevens, Peggy Smith, Gay Gueringer and Molly Richard, all of Lafayette.

Muriel Moreland choreographed the production, assisted by Jim Brown and Kathy Burk. Dr. Allan Dennis, newly appointed conductor of the USL orchestra program, conducted the performance.

"West Side Story" opened at the Winter Garden Theater in New York in 1957 and ran for 981 performances. The story, as originally conceived by Jerome Robbins was to have retold the Romeo and Juliet legend in terms of young Irish and Jewish lovers. However, Robbins and Leonard Bernstein decided the Irish-Jewish theme had been run dry on Broadway, and had little contemporary validity.

But the influx of Puerto Ricans in New York offered a group given to high passion and violence — the very meat of Shakespeare's story. Their gang was suggested a likely substitute for family feuds.

"West Side Story" therefore becomes a confrontation between the "American" gang, the Jets, and the Puerto Rican gang, the Sharks. Caught up in this conflict are Maria, the lovely, young Puerto Rican whose brother is the leader of the Sharks and Tony, the handsome young west side youth whose best friend is the leader of the Jets.

ERNEST J. GAINES . . .

WRITER-IN-RESIDENCE

Gaines finds temporary home at USL.

By ANDRE J. DAVIS

Being a writer-in-residence in Acadiana does not present much of a cultural change for well-known author Ernest Gaines, since he was born on a sugarcane plantation in Pointe Coupee Parish and lived there for 15 years.

In an interview with Charles Rowell that took place in Baton Rouge and was published in the May 1978 edition of 'Callaloo #3,' Gaines expressed his feelings to occasionally return to Louisiana as he does periodically "to be with the land in different seasons, to travel the land, to go into the fields, to go into the small towns, to go into the bars, to eat the food, to listen to the language."

Recently interviewed in his office on the University of Southwestern Louisiana campus, Gaines explained some of the provocative elements that are rooted in his life and have affected his novels, particularly the one that is most widely known, The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman.

The greatest impact on his writing career, Gaines recalls, was his crippled aunt who raised him and his younger sisters and brothers at False River.

When he was 15, Gaines moved to Vallejo, California to receive a better education. There, he lived with his parents, his mother and stepfather. He frequented the public library and read as much as possible. He noticed the paucity of black writers and this fact, coupled with the loneliness of being away from Louisiana, inspired him to write.

At 16, Gaines burned the first manuscript he had ever written and sent to a New York publisher. It had been returned to him with a rejection slip. Gaines admits the story was bad because he did not know how to create a plot or develop a character.

"I think the writer or painter or musician has to go through an apprenticeship," Gaines says, emphasizing that he set his foundation of writing skills early with 10 years of training, from 1957 to 1967.

During those years, Gaines attended San Francisco State College, where he received his bachelor's degree in English Literature. He originally intended to study creative writing, but at the time, the college had no curriculum in that discipline.

[illegible] such odd jobs as a post office clerk, printer's helper, and mail clerk in an insurance [illegible] there to make ends meet," he recalls. Later, he won a graduate fellowship in creative [illegible] Stanford University.

[illegible] that Gaines has instituted as an essential part of his writing is to "try not to let anything in[illegible] my work." He now writes four to five hours a day on his new novel A Gathering of Old Men, [illegible] titled Revenge of Old Men.

"I used to write 10 to 12 hours a day," he says. "But if you really concentrate on your work, you can accomplish as much work in less time."

[illegible] believes that he did not reach his writing peak in The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman or [illegible] other novels: Bloodline, Catherine Carmier, In My Father's House, Of Love and Dust. "I don't think [illegible] my peak," says Gaines. "If you do, you're through. Each piece must be new."

[illegible] become used to the food, weather, terrain and beautiful women" in the Acadiana area, Gaines [illegible] "I know some wonderful teachers here at USL and I respect them." He was asked to come to [illegible] Dr. Carl Wooton of the English Department.

[illegible] writer-in-residence at USL means conducting a creative writing seminar once a week [illegible] hours and helping students who are interested in creative writing. He is using the same teaching [illegible] at USL that he used when teaching at Stanford University this past spring.

[illegible] new novel, A Gathering of Old Men, is about the South and the plot concerns the culminating events [illegible] when a white man is found dead in a black man's yard on a white woman's plantation.

[illegible] though a film has been made of The Sky is Gray, and a part of the Bloodline series, Jane Pittman, Gaines' [illegible] onal character has been so popular from the TV film which was made in Baton Rouge and is required [illegible] ding in high schools and colleges that the author feels her memory will follow him forever.

"I just know when I die they don't write anything on my tombstone about Miss Jane Pittman," Gaines [illegible] y commented.

CAJUNS SET RECORD FOR MOST WINS — DIDIER UNBELIEVABLY SHUNNED AS COACH OF THE YEAR

The 1981 USL Ragin Cajun baseball team had one of its most successful years in history. The baseballers turned around a 19-29-2 season in 1980 and recorded an astonishing 40-23 mark for 1981. Mel Didier's first year as head coach at USL was indeed astonishing. Five regulars ended the season batting over .300. EVERY pitcher on the squad finished the season with a winning record. The Cajun defense set a new double play record. With this kind of success, one would think that Mel Didier was a shoo-in for Coach of the Year honors in the Southland Conference, right? Right. Did he get it? No. Didier took it all in stride, though. In an understatement, he said, "I think we surprised a lot of people this year."

The Cajuns did indeed surprise a lot of people. Fans started coming to games in droves. Crowds of over 1,000 people were commonplace for conference games, and fan support for night games helped create more interest for baseball than at any other time in modern history. "We laid a good foundation for the future this season," Didier said, "And if we can get some help in the right places I have no doubts that we can be ever better in the next few seasons." And with a little support from the right places, he could have a lock on Coach of the Year for the next few seasons.

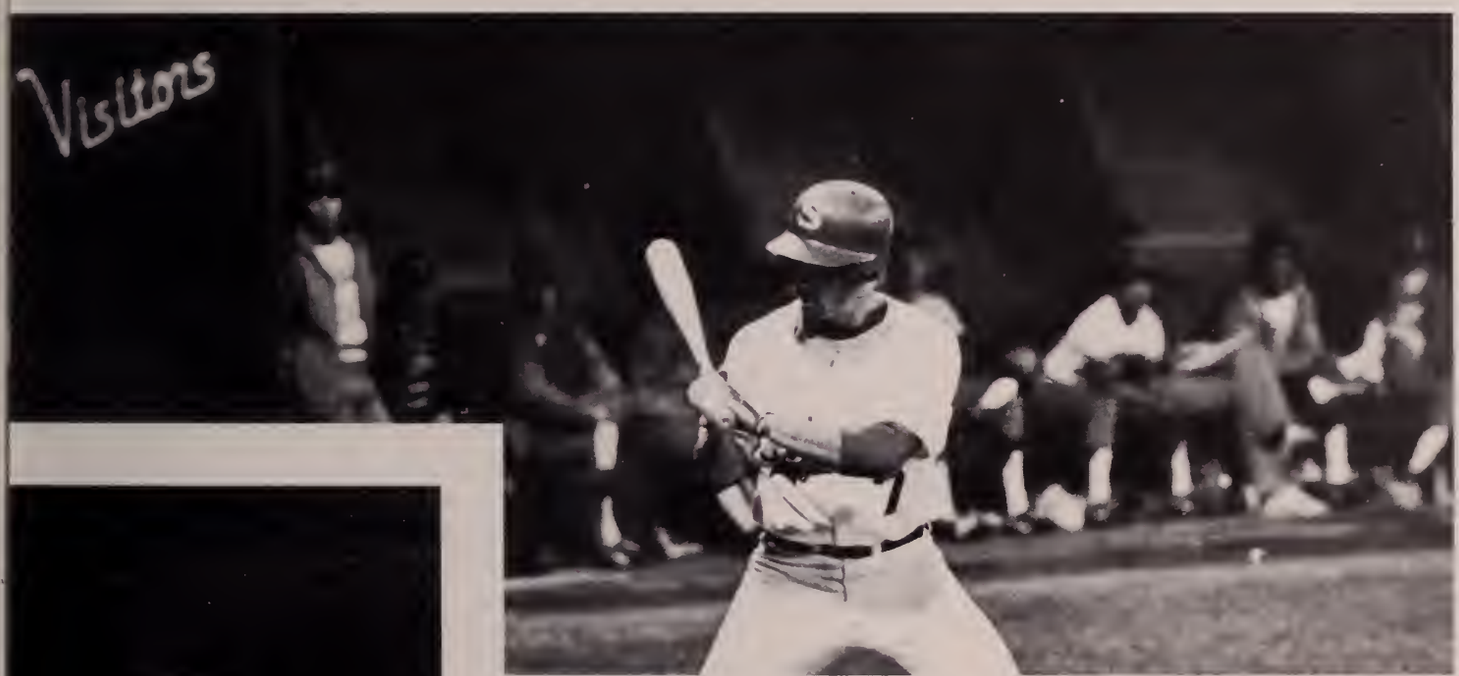

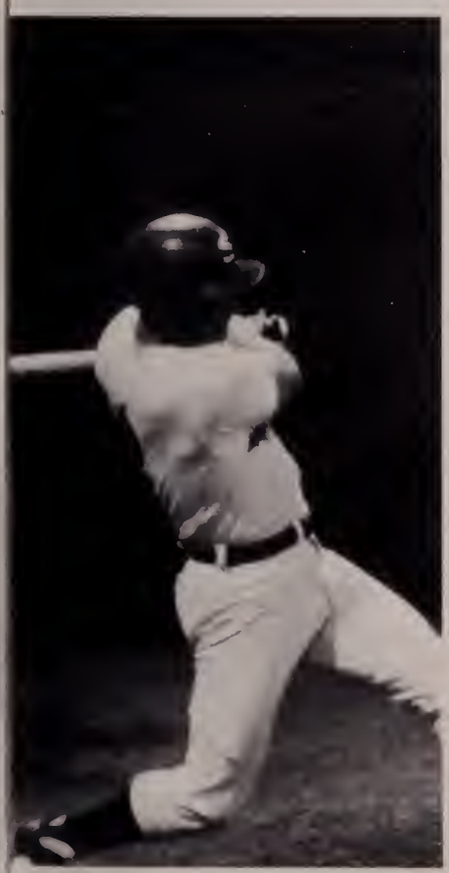

Mel Didier — Coach of the Year in hearts of fans.

TRACK TEAM SHOWS GREAT IMPROVEMENT

After what USL's track and field squad had accomplished during the 1981 regular season, it was only natural for coach Bob Cole to be disappointed with the showing of his squad in the conference meet. The Cajuns finished fourth after going into the meet as one of the favorites for the overall title. But, as Cole will readily admit, "It sure beats last year's finish." And that it did. USL improved on its 1980 last place showing with strong performances from such athletes as Martin Lawson, Craig Lee, and Curtis Washington. All three were SLC champs: Washington in the 800 meters, Lee in the discus, and Lawson in the 400 meter hurdles. Lawson went on to make the NCAA semifinals in his event before being eliminated.

TENNIS TEAM WINS FOURTH TITLE IN FIVE YEARS

The USL tennis team continued its winning ways by re-capturing the SLC championship that it had lost last year to the Louisiana Tech Bulldogs. The Bulldogs were providing the stiffest competition again this year by remaining even with the Cajuns going into the final days of play. On that final day, though, USL captured three singles titles and swept Louisiana Tech in three straight doubles matches to run away with the title. "It was a fitting end to the season," head coach Jerry Simmons said. The Cajuns completed their record-breaking season with a 24-5 overall record, with all five losses coming to teams ranked in the nation's Top 20. The 24 dual match wins sets a school record for most wins in a single season and the .828 winning percentage is also a school record. USL will enter the 1982 spring season with another school record under their belts, that being a 15 match winning streak, with an excellent chance to extend that mark even further. All in all, the Cajuns qualified a total of seven individuals for All-Conference honors in the league tournament, a school as well as a conference record. Impressive, to say the least.

BASKETBALL FUTURE LOOKS BRIGHT

If there is one word that sums up USL's basketball future, that word is "bright." The 1980-81 Cajuns compiled a 15-13 win-loss record against a tough schedule that included a total of ten teams that made the post-season playoffs. Next season could be even better, because the Cajuns are returning nine lettermen with five players who started in thirteen or more games. The players that USL will lose to graduation will hurt, though. They include honorable mention All-American Kevin Figaro (who was chosen by the Atlanta Hawks in the NBA draft), Wayne Julien, Craig Monroe, and Andrew Dorsey.

Coach Bobby Paschal will enter his fourth year as head coach of the Cajuns, with an overall collegiate record of 52-33 (.612). He is particularly pleased with the play of three freshman recruits, Graylin Warner, Dion Brown, and Alonza Allen. These three, along with the play of junior college transfer Alford "Pop" Turner, sophomore standout Dan Gay, the seniors mentioned before, and the rest of the 1980-81 USL Ragin Cajun basketball team, gave fans a very exciting season, and the promise of many more to come.

ABOVE — FIGARO THE MAGNIFICENT — Kevin Figaro finished an outstanding career as a Cajun in 1980-81. As a senior, Fig led USL in scoring and rebounding and was named to several All-American squads as honorable mention.

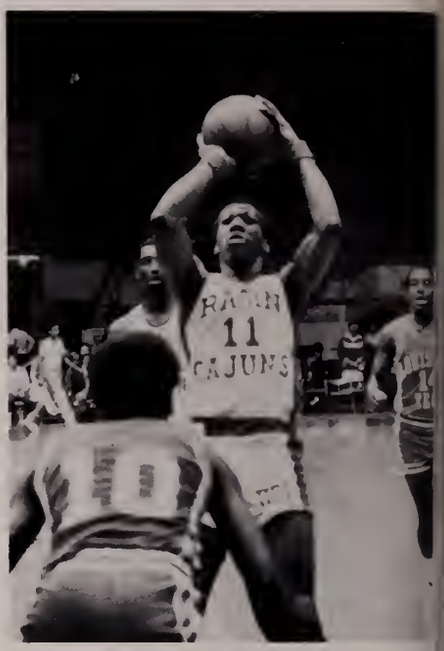

OUT WITH THE OLD AND IN WITH THE NEW

RIGHT — GRAYLIN "ICE" WARNER — Just one of the many outstanding recruits in 1980-81. As freshmen, these recruits accounted for over 25 points per game.

RIGHT — Alford "Pop" Turner came to USL as a junior college transfer. The 6-2½ guard averaged 10.1 points per game and led the Cajuns in assists with 123.

BELOW — The versatile Figaro deals with an assist.

BELOW RIGHT — 6-6, 180 pound Alonza Allen lets a jump shot fly. Allen, along with Warner and Dion Brown, represent one of the most successful recruiting years ever at USL.

LONG FOOTBALL SEASON FINALLY OVER

First, the unpleasant facts. USL's football Ragin' Cajuns ended their 1981 season with a record of 1-9-1 overall; 0-4-1 in conference play. The overall mark was the worst for a USL team since the 1973 squad put together an 0-10 record. There may be a bright side to to all of this, however. After all, seven of those ten non-victories were decided in the final moments of play, and USL had the ball with a chance to score a tying or winning touchdown in the final minute of play in six of those games. Another bright spot in an otherwise dismal year was the play of several freshmen who were inserted into the starting lineup after a few of the more established players violated curfew in the week after the homecoming loss to Texas-Arlington. Freshman quarterback Don Wallace, for one, showed Cajun fans that they have a lot more to look forward to in the future than one-win seasons.

HEAD COACH SAM ROBERTSON

But let's not forget about the 13 seniors who gave their all during their varsity careers. The list includes wide receiver Claude Charles, quarterback Curt Caladarera, punter Larry Trussell, wide receiver Freddie Taylor, linebacker Mark Malkemus, cornerback Michael Dupre, linebacker Rob Falivene, tight end Brent Anderson, free safety David Pingston, offensive guard Keith Hall, defensive tackle Kent Head, and center James Hamilton.

These Cajuns have been through a lot together, including a 7-4 record just one year ago and a second-place Southland Conference finish. Claude Charles was named the SLC's "Player of the Week" twice in 1981, and Michael Dupre received that honor once. The only non-senior to win the award was Don Wallace for his outstanding performance against Lamar. All things considered, Cajun fans have a lot to look forward to next season.

LADY CAJUNS INCONSISTENT, BUT SHOW SOME IMPROVEMENT IN 1982

Lady Cajun head coach Mary Jo Castell summed it up best when she said, "The one thing that hurt us most during the season was that we didn't play consistent for any length of time." The Lady Cajuns finished with a respectable 10-14 record though, and had three girls finish with double figures as their season average. Another player, Cindy Vincent, set a USL record for most assists in one year, 106.

LADY CAJUNS SOFTBALLERS COMPILE 7-15 FIRST YEAR RECORD

For a team which didn't even exist last season, the softball team did a fine job in 1981 by finishing with a 7-15 overall mark and placing fourth in Division I of the LAIAW State Softball Tournament. In addition, USL secured one individual honor as shortstop-outfielder Phyllis Scarsone was named to the All-State team.

METROPOLIS

FACULTY: KEYS TO EDUCATION

Several Third World nations will receive assistance with housing problems from USL professor of architecture Rolf G. Strahle.

Strahle was appointed by the United Nations to advise the governments of Ecuador and Guinea on rural housing technology. The Swedish-born architect will bring his expertise in rural and urban housing renewal and rehabilitation to the post, and hopes to implement self-help and mutual aid programs to improve housing standards in the two countries.

Strahle is a veteran of several UN consulting expeditions, and has performed similar functions for the governments of Nigeria, Ethiopia, Peru, and Kuwait, among others. He has also served as a housing adviser at the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization headquarters in Paris. His major area of service has been in architectural implications of resident housing and educational buildings for the residents of underdeveloped countries.

Prior to joining the USL faculty in 1973, Strahle served as a professor of architecture at Tulane University, Syracuse University (New York), the University of El Salvador, and Haile Selassie I University in Ethiopia.

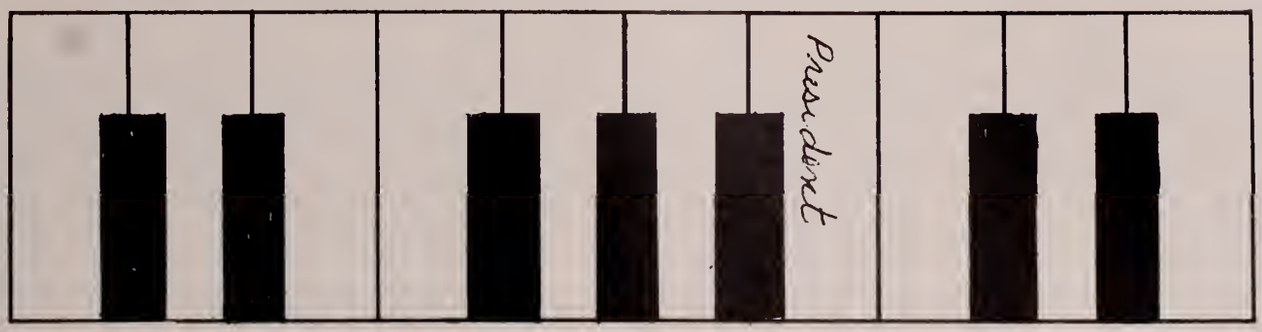

"Architecture is such an international field," commented Strahle. "Of the 465 students in architecture at USL, about thirty percent are from foreign countries, from all over the world. Our faculty here at USL is also international — we can give students a broad education, not at all provincial."

FACULTY: KEYS TO EDUCATION

Ray Authement is President of the University of Southwestern Louisiana. He received a B.S. from Southwestern Louisiana Institute in 1950, M.S. from Louisiana State University in 1952 and Ph.D. from Louisiana State University in 1956. President Authement has been at USL for 23 years. As President, he is responsible for the University's overall operation and for carrying out policies of the Board of Trustees, Board of Regents and State Legislature.

AND
PRES. RAY AUTHEMENT

FACULTY: KEYS TO EDUCATION

RAYMOND BLANCO

As Dean of Students on the USL Campus, Dean Raymond Blanco oversees the operation of a unique program involving dedicated staff members committed to making USL a better place for students to be. Time and effort spent in dealing with students on a personal basis is a priority which is demanded of and evident in the attitudes and actions of those associated with the Student Welfare Area. The student escort service, a 24-hour call system, involving personnel deans, private physical and mental health consultation and care, maximum protection and security by an outstanding University Police force — these are but a few of the many services provided to students in order that their stay at USL be a true living learning experience involving people who sincerely care about their development and growth as a human being.

OVEY HARGRAVE

The Business Affairs of the University, under the direction of the Vice President for Business Affairs, Ovey Hargrave, cover the areas of budgeting, accounting, financial reporting, investments, auditing, cashiering, personnel, purchasing, physical plant maintenance, engineering services, auxiliary services, and financial management of auxiliary enterprises.

The success of the educational program of a college or university depends in part upon the adequacy of the administration of its business and financial operations. Business officers should have a demonstrable understanding of the general concepts of educational philosophy and of the functions which their offices must perform. The Business Affairs division at USL subscribes completely to this philosophy.

SAMMY COSPER

The Vice President for Academic Affairs is responsible for the 146 academic programs which the University offers at the Certificate, Associate, Baccalaureate, Master's, Educational Specialist, and Doctorate levels. He leads a faculty which numbers over 600 who comprise 44 academic departments and schools which are organized into 8 undergraduate colleges, the graduate school, the Library, the Honors Program, the Junior Division, the Admissions Office, and the Office of the Registrar. The Academic Vice President is charged with insuring that the classroom and laboratory phase of the education of USL's students is one of high quality which will prepare graduates to function in, and contribute to this highly complex, technological world in which we live.

DR. JACK TESTERMAN

Dr. Jack Testerman, Vice President for University Relations, has been with USL for eighteen years. In 1973 he was named to the post of vice president. He received his B.S. from Oklahoma State University and his M.S. in 1957 also from Oklahoma State University. In 1970, he received his Ph.D. from the University of Texas, Austin. Dr. Testerman coordinates University activities in relation to planning, development, and community relations. Some of the offices involved in these activities are Long-Range Planning, The University of Southwestern Louisiana Foundation, and Public Relations.

The Executive Council meets weekly, and is subject to call into special meeting at any time. The Council considers campuswide issues and makes recommendations to President Authement. Proposed new policies are reviewed by the Council, then forwarded to the president for his consideration. It also serves as a forum in which its members bring up items for airing by his colleagues.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

The College of Agriculture faculty are primarily interested in training students for family living, homemaking and farming and for those professions related to agriculture and home economics. Students are prepared for varied careers in education, business, institutions, agencies and industries. The Dean of Agriculture is responsible for the daily operations and teachings of the many diversified areas of agriculture. In addition to the school functions, he is in charge of operating a 600-acre farm laboratory in St. Martin Parish. When the move is completed, the new farm will offer greater opportunities in teaching and research to faculty and students alike. The College of Agriculture offers seventeen degree programs and students have first hand experience by working in the various laboratories, i.e., poultry, dairy, animal husbandry, the horticulture farm, horticulture greenhouses, and food and clothing laboratories.

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

Dean Hauser received his Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from USL, a Master of Business Administration from LSU, and the Doctor of Business Administration from the Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration. Dr. Hauser joined the faculty of USL in 1957, serving as Professor of Management and Administrative Studies until his appointment as Dean in 1977.

Preparing men and women to enter and lead the business community is the primary goal of the College of Business Administration. The College offers areas of specialization in Accounting, Business Communication, Economics, Finance, General Business, Management, Marketing, Merchandising, and Office Administration. In 1981, a new concentration was added, Petroleum Land Management. Approved by the National Association of Landmen, the program is the first one approved in the State of Louisiana and the fifth in the United States.

Dr. Mary Dichmann

The College of Arts, Humanities, and Behavioral Sciences is the most diverse of the undergraduate colleges, incorporating ten departments and two schools. Students who major in one of the programs offered by the College receive, in addition to their pre-professional training, a broad liberal education, which the faculty believes will provide them with the proper background to cope with the variety of experiences that they will encounter later in life.

Mary Dichmann, who is Dean of the College, received her B.A. degree from Newcomb in 1935, her M.A. from the University of North Carolina in 1938, and her Ph.D. from Tulane in 1953. She has been a member of the USL faculty and administration since her graduation from North Carolina, with military leave for service in World War II and educational leave for work on the doctorate.

COLLEGE OF ARTS, HUMANITIES AND BEHAVIORAL SCIENCES

The College of Engineering offers much for the college student. It is the profession in which a knowledge of the mathematical and natural sciences gained by study, experience and practice is applied with judgement to develop ways to utilize, economically, the materials and forces of nature for the benefit of mankind. The College of Engineering also offers geology. It covers not only cultural aspects of the subject but also the economics of the field. James W. Reeves served as Dean of the College of Engineering since 1972.

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

bert T. Alciatore

The purpose of the College of Education is to further the objectives of the University of Southwestern Louisiana by providing quality pre-service and in-service programs in preparation for competent educational personnel who are interested in teaching in elementary and secondary schools, in serving as school administrators and supervisors, in serving as school counselors, and in teaching in institutions of higher learning. Teacher education programs are based on the rationale that an effective teacher can assist children to develop their maximum potential by creating an environment that makes learning both interesting and applicable.

COLLEGE OF NURSING

The College of Sciences offers four extensive areas from which to choose a curriculum of study: the biological sciences, the mathematical sciences, the physical sciences and certain pre-professional school studies. All departments adhere to the principle that professional activity and advanced study should be built on a broad background of humanistic and scientific experience from the university community. Thus, the College of Sciences offers courses of study challenging enough for an inquisitive mind and versatile enough to be valuable in the search for a variety of professional careers.

He plans to earn an honors degree by completing his thesis, entitled "Tax Shelter Options in Real Estate Under the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981." He was president of the College of Business Administration honor society, and also president of Alpha Beta, the accounting honor fraternity. He has served as an elected member of the honors program advisory board for three years, and has maintained an academic scholarship for the past four years. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Psi social fraternity and of the National Association of Accountants. He served on the speakers committee and is currently a member of the College Republicans. He has served on the IFC, and was the recipient of special USL honors program and accounting department scholarships.

Kathleen Louise Winston is a senior majoring in dietetics. She has been a Dean's List student for eight semesters and a President's List student for seven. She was a recipient of the Marie Comeaux Senior Home Economics scholarship, and received a T.H. Harris scholarship for four years. She was a member of the Dietetics Club for four years, and served the club as secretary-treasurer in 1979-80 and Agricultural Council delegate for 1978-79. She was a member for three years of Kappa Omicron Phi (the home economics honor society), and served as president in 1981-82, vice president in 1980-81, and Agricultural Council delegate in 1980. She was a member of the Vermilion Honor Society in 1981-82, Phi Kappa Phi in 1981-82, and the Alpha Lambda Delta freshman honor society in 1979.

KATHLEEN LOUISE WINSTON
KIMBERLY LAVAL YOUNG

Kimberly Laval Young is a senior majoring in economics. She has been a Dean's List student since 1979 with a GPA of 3.5, and also made the President's List. She has been a member of Phi Gamma Mu, the Commerce Honor Society, the Vermilion Honor Society, the Afro-American Culture committee, the USL Students in Free Enterprise, and the counselor advisory board. She was also a member of the USL Sweethearts, and served them as secretary-treasurer. She was historian and parliamentarian for the Alpha Kappa Alpha service sorority. She won the Alpha Kappa Alpha South-Central Region Merit Award, was the Alpha Phi Alpha Sweetheart, was Alpha Phi Alpha's Distinguished Black Collegiate, and participated in the Honors Convocation. She has been the counselor for Bancroft Dorm in 1979-80, the assistant house director for Bancroft Dorm in 1980 and the house director for Bonin Hall in 1980-82.
